A new form of student participation came to Wyandotte this year in the form of the School Council. Our organization is only a part of the 535 member schools of the National Association of Student Councils. The purpose of the school council, like the main purpose of all other activities about the school, curricular or extracurricular, is to educate those who participate. Members of the council were chosen by the students. One representative is elected from each home room, thus making the representation equal in proportion to the size of the four classes. Officers of the Courtesy Club are also regular members.

At the first meeting of the permanent members of the council, these officers were elected: Paul Gibbs, president; Sylvia Griffith, vice-president; Edna Marie Green, secretary, and Jane Allvine, treasurer. In November the officers attended a convention at Topeka to find out what other councils were doing, and many fine ideas were brought back.

One of the first problems the council wanted to work out was that of having mixers. The student body wanted more and better ones; and it was up to the council to work out a system to please as many people as possible. Should outsiders be allowed to come, or should it be strictly for Wyandotte people—should food be sold—what about the music—and where should the mixers be held? These were just a few of the many problems, and as each one was worked out, mistakes may have been made, but an attempt was made to correct them at the next mixer.

Several committees have been appointed to take care of some of the difficulties around Wyandotte. A light committee takes care of the dark halls by turning the lights on and off as needed. This is especially helpful now that we can use our lockers between classes. Wyandotte students seem to lose quite a few things, and up to this year all lost articles were put in the office. But now, if something is lost, you just go to room 161, and there you'll find a council member in charge. Students had been complaining because there was no place to study before school, so the School Council stepped in, and room 159 was opened for early birds, with council members in charge.

There are other committees and there have been other activities, but these are some of the highlights of the School Council's first year at Wyandotte. It is off to a good start, and if everyone is willing to cooperate it will do even bigger and better things for the school and the students.

A New Principal . . .

by the editors

The advent of the new administration with Ralph C. Johnson as principal, was accompanied by several changes. In actual practice, policy will be weighed in an effort to afford the maximum of democratic opportunity for "W" students.

Closely linked together in their formation, and working co-operatively are the homeroom system and the School Council, started at the beginning of this school year. It is universally conceded that the homeroom system provides a more efficient way of keeping the affairs of the school in smooth working order, at the same time keeping the students in closer contact with the central administration. The homerooms provided a basis whereby students were chosen as representatives to the all-school council which works with the faculty in managing students affairs.

An essential group connected with the School Council is the Cafeteria Courtesy Committee. These people volunteered at the beginning of the year to contribute their services toward the tremendous job of running, in an efficient manner, a cafeteria which must daily feed Wyandotte's 1900 students. Members of this group were in charge of providing music daily during the three lunch periods.

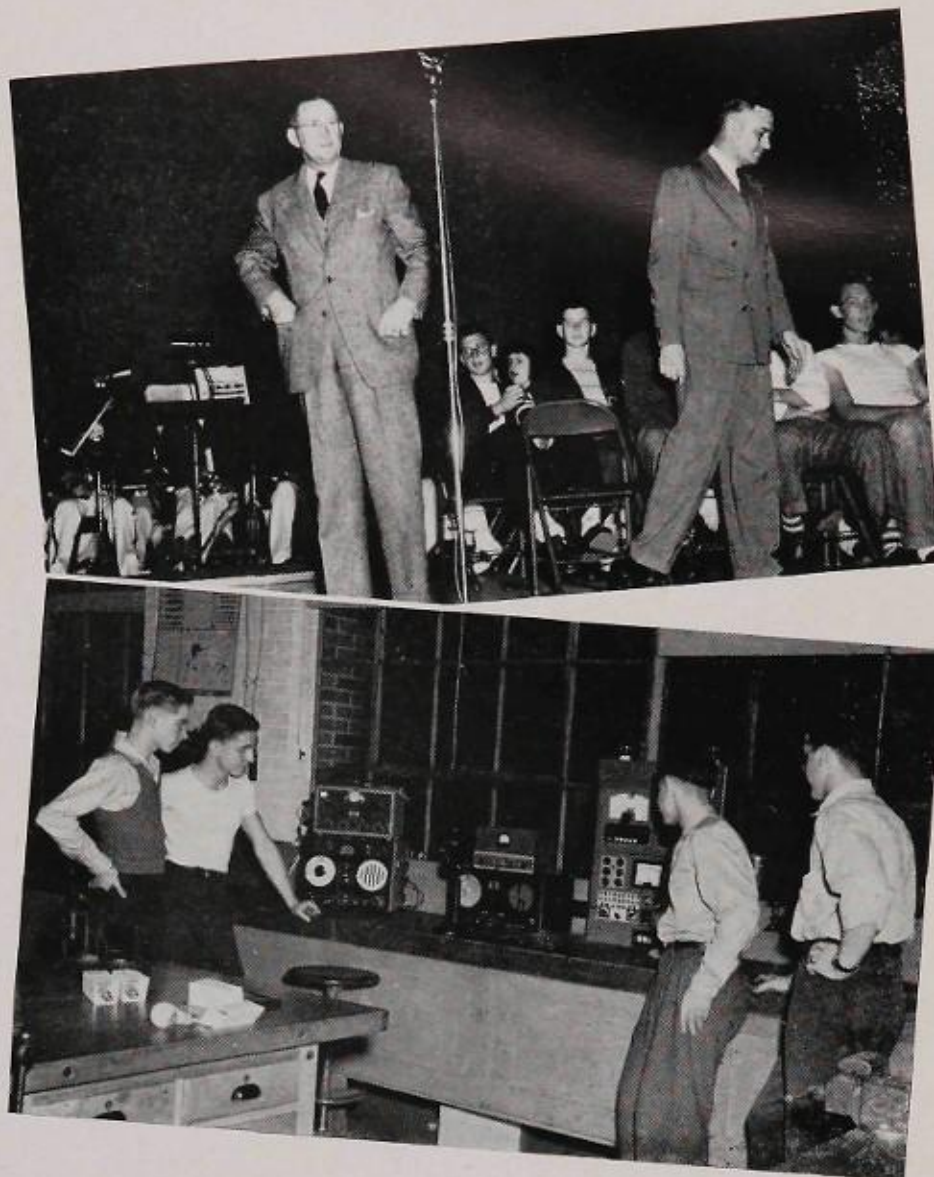

This year also marked the introduction of pep assemblies in the stadium and the auditorium. Highlighting these rallies were the appearance of Forrest C. "Phog" Allen at the initial auditorium assembly honoring the football team, and the first outdoor assembly, held on the day of the Ward game, at which the entire student body participated in the live formation of the school letters. Judging by the enthusiasm shown, it would seem that these are here to stay.

Top Down: Principal Johnson and School Council president Paul Gibbs; home room in action—School Council representative Barbara Pack selling tickets, Allen Sever reading the announcements, home room captains Schweder, Clement and Peck planning sports program; cafeteria record jockeys Gibbs, Wall and Brownrigg; pep assembly in the stadium.

New Activities . . .

Early in February, those interested in radio in Wyandotte received a notification from the FCC —Federal Communications Commission to the un-initiated, that they had been granted a license to operate an amateur radio station. Given the call letters WOSXA, the Radio Club was soon sending and receiving calls from nearly all our neighboring states.

Changes in policy were the leaving out of one hour for an assembly instead of shortening all hours, letting students go to their lockers during the passing period, and a new bell schedule starting school fifteen minutes later. In short, we've touched just a few of the important changes in and around your high school during the year 1947.

Top down: pep assembly in the auditorium—football players meet Dr. "Phog" Allen; Wyandotte's new radio transmitter.

Senior Class

by Janet Gregory

The senior class was comprised of 430 students, busy with class rings, graduation announcements, senior pictures, and plans for the future. This group was the sponsor of the year's first all-school mixer, and presented a three-act comedy play, "Brother Goose". In addition they have been well represented in athletics and other school activities. The sponsor of the seniors is Miss Louise Timmer.

With their years of high school education now behind them, these students are going forward either to jobs or to higher education.

Senior Officers

As befits the largest class in the school, the sophomores have been quite active this year. This group has two assemblies to its credit, and has worked with the school council to present an all-school mixer.

The sophomore class was sponsored by Mr. Lauren L. Plummer, and numbered 608 members. Most of these were new to Wyandotte this year, having come from Central and Northwest Junior High Schools. Now they feel they are well prepared to be upperclassmen next year.

Sophomore Officers

Junior Class

by Janet Gregory

Increasing the ranks of upperclassmen this year were 537 busy Juniors. For these students the year's round of activities included the presentation of the Junior Play, a three-act comedy entitled "A Date With Judy," and the annual Junior-Senior Prom, at which they honored the seniors. In these they were guided by their sponsor, Miss Nelle Cook.

Now this group is eagerly looking forward to the time when they become seniors, and leaders in the various school activities.

Junior Officers

Freshman Class

New to the halls of Wyandotte this year were the confused and often-lost freshmen. However, being an up and coming group, they soon began to find their way around, and to get into the swing of school activities. An assembly was presented this spring by the freshman class.

The freshmen comprised the smallest class at Wyandotte, having only 192 members. Their sponsor was Mr. Lester Ramsey.

Freshmen Officers

Maintenance

Keeping the floors spotless, furniture shining, and the beautiful grounds of Wyandotte in perfect shape, are but a few of the many tasks that these industrious people perform under the supervision of Henry Kearney and Ed Lander. Wyandotte's building and grounds are well groomed the year round.

Under the direction of Mrs. Norma Wood, these ladies whip up the salads, bake the pies, roast the beef and fill up the plates. The good food and service have become traditional in the Wyandotte Cafeteria.

Seniors . . .

Class of 1947

by the Editors

Out at 25th and Minnesota in the city of Kansas City, Kansas, there's a high school called Wyandotte. It's campus, though beautiful, is not the thing which impresses you most, but instead, the spirit that pervades that same campus. Each year, approximately 450 young men and women pass from its classrooms to assume their rightful place in society. To these young people belong the future of our community, state, and nation. And the coming few years will see many of them establish themselves as solid citizens of our land.

Ever keeping our faces turned toward that future, we pause for just a moment in retrospect . . .

We remember primarily the group of scared kids who made up our freshman class—awed by the size of our new school, and trying our very darndest to find someplace to fit in. We recall very vividly those first few days, how we got lost, the mistakes that we made, but most of all, the friendly atmosphere which made those first few days not too uncomfortable. We envied the big, important seniors, laughed at how silly the "steadies" looked, and formed ambitions and desires for our own senior year.

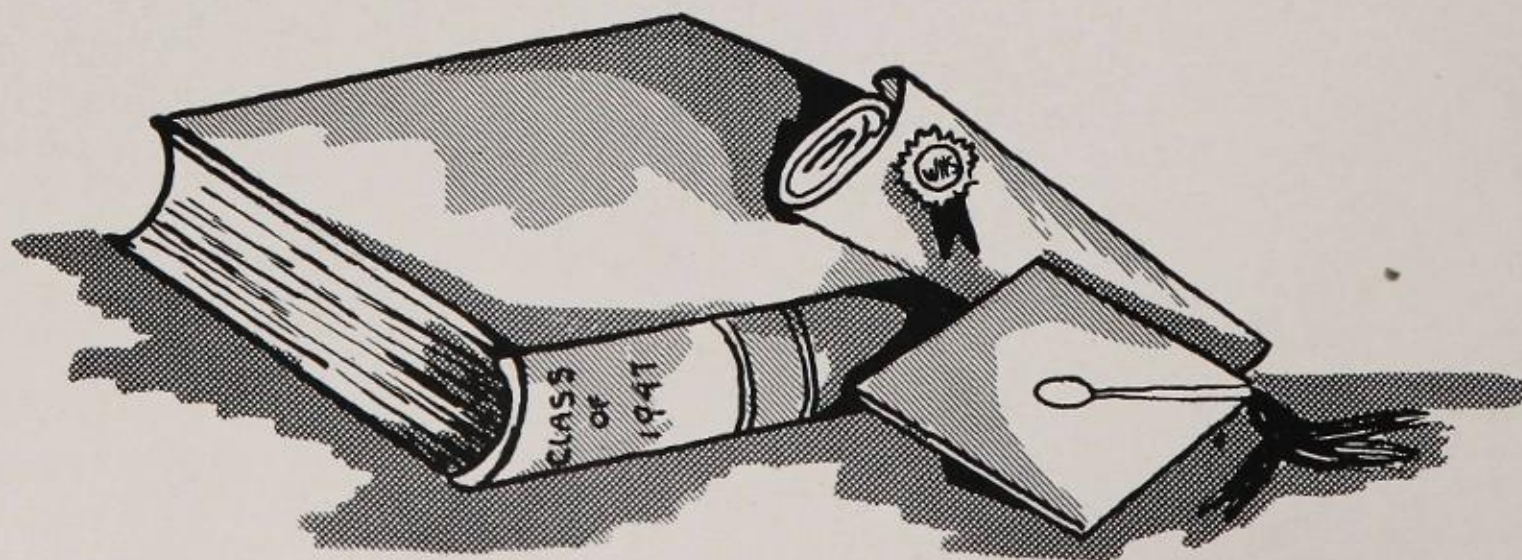

Came the sophomore year, and dear old Wyandotte saw a more experienced class compete for honors with new arrivals from junior highs throughout the city. It wasn't long, however, before cooperation replaced that competitive spirit, and, despite difficulties caused by the war, we sophs plunged headlong into the work and play which constituted our new lives as high school students.

We remember the "partial dignity" acquired upon passing into our junior year. Some of the "not-to-be-forgotten" events of that year were: the Junior class play, "Junior Miss"; the Kay Cee banquets, and of course the Junior-Senior Prom.

The long-awaited senior year finally arrived, and with it came the culmination of the hopes and dreams of many fellows and girls. Being the tenth class to graduate from the new Wyandotte High, this year marked the beginning of a new administration under a new principal, R. C. Johnson. The year passed altogether too rapidly as we were caught in the whirl of activities that make up a successful senior year. Ordering class rings and pins, announcements, National Honor Society nominations—all these events and many others combined to bring graduation date nearer by leaps and bounds.

In days to come, we will remember the swell times we've had together, social hall and the traditional Christmas service in the yuletide season, the mixers, banquets, and parties that made up our school life. And though we will never again be assembled as we have been this past year, the benefits gained from our association will speak with such power, that, in years to come, the world will hear from the Class of '47.

If you should meet an acquaintance on the street and observe a small gold pin on his coat lapel, you would know immediately that he was one of the chosen few in his high school graduating class elected to membership in the National Honor Society. Having set membership in this scholarship group as his goal upon entering high school, he now can wear the emblem of the torch of knowledge.

The Honor Society was created as a national organization in 1921; as a society here at Wyandotte in 1925. The founders of this group had in mind the stimulation of scholarship, leadership, character and service among high school students. Thus, these are the requirements for membership in the National Honor Society.

The candidates are initiated into the organization by a traditional Sacred Flame Ceremony, held each spring in Wyandotte's auditorium. At this very impressive candlelighting service, each boy and girl accepts the challenge of the spirit of Achievement by repeating this pledge:

"In all humility, I pledge myself to be honorable, to serve, to lead aright, to uphold scholarship and thus to keep alive the sacred flame."

Each year at Wyandotte, any senior student who desires to, may sign up to take a series of scholarship tests given by Vice-Principal J. Clyde Hume. These examinations are not only for students seriously interested in achieving a scholarship to the college of their choice, but for any boy or girl who wants to determine how he ranks in his class or who simply wants the practical experience of taking college tests. Many of the examinations are duplicates of old college entrance tests and although they will not be the same as the ones taken upon entering a college, their similarity will undoubtedly prove to be very helpful when the time comes.

There were two final tests given. All previous examinations served simply as practice and as examples of the variety of tests given for actual scholarships. Students whose scores on these practice tests were below average were eliminated, and only those who made exceptional scores and who ranked high scholastically, were given the opportunity to attempt the real scholarship tests. One was sponsored by the Pepsi-Cola Company; the other, the Summerfield Scholarship for boys, applies only to the University of Kansas.

There were 55 students taking the preliminary examinations this year and, although of course all 55 could not take the final tests, each one of them is to be commended for his interest and participation in such an activity.

COACH ED ELLIS

Rated at the first of the season as an underdog team because of inexperience, Wyandotte's football squad soon proved to be one of the strongest in this section of the state. Finishing the season with an .800 average (eight wins and two losses), the Bulldogs took the city championship.

Ed Ellis came back to his coaching duties this year after serving three years in the Navy. With the assistance of Francis Swaim, a newcomer to Wyandotte, Ellis began early in September to mold a strong forward wall and a powerful backfield.

After perfecting plays off the double and single wing formations the Bulldogs, captained by Bill Brownrigg, opened their season with a 7-0 win over Central High of Kansas City, Missouri. The only counter came on the first down of the second quarter when Don Wilson plunged the ball over from the one-yard line and then kicked the conversion.

Upsetting a favored Shawnee Mission eleven a week later, the Canines, continued to prove that they had been an underrated team. Wyandotte's scoring attack began early in the game when end Tom White made a beautiful 60-yard run for the first touchdown. Wilson booted the extra point. The second score was made when Dee Roy ran 25 yards to the goal line after taking a pass from Wilson. The final score was 14-6.

In their first game away from the home field the gridsters piled up a 19-7 score against the Leavenworth Pioneers. Wyandotte drew first blood when Roy took a pass, ran 19 yards to the 5-yard stripe, and then scored on the next play. The two other Bulldog tallies were made by Don Wilson.

Returning home for the following Friday, the Bulldogs shut out the Rosedale Wildcats, 14-0. After recovering a Wildcat fumble deep in Wyandotte's territory the Bulldog eleven lost the ball on downs. Regaining possession when Rosedale was forced to punt, our team successfully fought its way to the goal line with Vernon Clary making the touchdown score. Wilson scored the other touchdown and the two conversions.

Wyandotte's passing attack was at its peak in the Argentine game. Seven of eleven attempted forward passes were completed for a net gain of 101 yards and the game won 14-0. The touchdowns, however, came as a result of a line plunge by Don Wilson and a 40-yard sprint by Dee Roy. The only safety of the season was scored in this game by Bob Laird.

Then, on October 25, came Ward! An over-capacity crowd of 8,000 witnessed the most exciting game of the season, with the Bulldogs finally emerging as the victor 12-7. Although the "Red and White" hit pay dirt first, they were soon on the short end of the score. The Cyclones took the lead on a touchdown pass from Dollard to Sachen, and on the conversion which followed. In the final minutes of the game the winning tally came when Don Wilson shot a pass to Bob Laird, who was across the goal line. Thus Wyandotte defeated their arch rivals and retained the city championship.

Traveling to Salina the following week end, the Canines boosted their winning streak to seven games. The game was "Wyandotte all the way," and the final score was 19-0. Don Wilson crossed the goal line three times for the winning counters, and Andy Dimsdale booted the one successful conversion.

Topeka was the next host to the Bulldog squad and the underdog Trojans took the game 26-12. Wyandotte's two touchdowns came in the second and fourth quarters. Laird and Wilson were the scorers.

At Emporia the following Friday the Ellismen came back with a 14-7 victory over the Emporia Spartans. Both tallies came in the first quarter. Dee Roy contacted the enemy end zone for the first touchdown. "Rube" Laird grabbed a blocked punt and ran over for the second.

Climaxing the year's grid season, the Bulldogs returned home to meet the powerful Lawrence Lions. The Lions led all the way and the Canines were unable to score until the third period. Andy Dimsdale made the lone Wyandotte counter and the final score was 12-7.

Seven Bulldogs merited selection on one or more of the four all-city teams chosen at the end of the season by the Star, Kansan, Pantograph, and KCKN. They were:

Ed Asner, tackle; Ray Hassig, guard; Ken Medearis, center; Tom White, end; Ross Wilderman, guard; Dee Roy, back, and Don Wilson, back. Roy and Wilson placed on all four teams.

Don Wilson, the only man in recent Wyandotte history to make four letters in football, was named captain of the all-state football team. Dee Roy made the all-Kansas third team and Tom White received honorable mention.

Coach Francis Swaim directed the Wyandotte reserve football squad through a successful season. The team won six and lost one. The Bullpups beat Ward 6-0, Argentine 6-0, Rosedale 13-0 and 13-6, and Northeast 31-6. The Shawnee Mission reserves won a close decision 13-6.

Freshmen and Sophomores under Coach Glenn Stevenson played a hard schedule. The Bullpurps broke even with North Kansas City 0-6 and 7-0, tied Ward and Rosedale with a 6-6 score, and lost to Rosedale 6-12. Argentine won 12-6 and 7-0 but the Wyandotte team took the final game from them 13-6.

Wyandotte-Topeka rebound

With a rugged 20-game schedule ahead of them, the Wyandotte Basketball squad in early December opened the 1946-47 season, in which they were slated to meet the toughest opposition in the state and in Greater Kansas City. Four returning lettermen provided Coach Marion Wools with a nucleus around which to build a team. These included two forwards—Don Burchfield and Bill Brownrigg, and two guards—Bob Laird and Don Wilson. Finding someone to fill the center position was the big problem facing the Wyandotte coach. Of the four returning lettermen, none had the experience to play the pivot spot. Several boys were shifted to center during the season in an attempt to find a winning combination.

The Bulldogs entered the season, realizing their own lack of experience and the strength of their opponents. However, they never lost their fight and drive. This hustle and determination paid off when they defeated such teams as Northeast, Central, Chanute, Argentine, Salina, McPherson and Shawnee Mission. Inaccuracy on free throws was no doubt responsible for a number of the losses suffered by the squad, as practically all of them were close games which were lost by only a few points.

The Canines opened the season by defeating the Northeast Vikings, champions of the Interscholastic League of Kansas City, Missouri. In the second home game the Bulldogs racked up a 39-19 score against the Olathe Eagles, after having lost the previous Friday on the Rosedale court, 21-27. Shawnee Mission became the second successful opponent, scoring a 34-29 victory over our men. Preliminary to the K. U.-Oklahoma Aggie game at the Municipal Auditorium, December 20, the Canines showed good form by taking an easy 43-35 victory from Central of Kansas City, Missouri.

Starting the New Year right, the Bulldogs went out of town and came back with good news of a 36-25 win over Chanute. Wyandotte's quintet continued to win as the Mustangs from Argentine fell 24-22, in a close game that saw the "Dogs" ice cold at the charity line. Twenty-two free throws were missed. This victory made three in a row for the team. Traveling to Topeka for their next game, the Canine five was unsuccessful in its attempt to beat the Trojans, who emerged the victors, 32-27.

Memorial Hall provided the battle ground for the next contest between our own Bulldogs and the Ward Cyclones, paced by Pat Doherty. Until the last quarter the teams appeared evenly matched. In that last period, however, the "boys across the way" opened up for 19 points and took the game, 35-16. The next two games were dropped 19-20 and 26-32 to Lawrence and Pittsburg, respectively. In a pair of overtime games, the Canine squad edged out Rose-dale and Salina by one-point margins. Don Johnson made the winning buckets in the overtime of each game. Johnson, Burchfield, and Laird led the scoring against Rosedale; while Hataway and Laird did most of the damage against the Maroons.

In the annual Invitational Tournament held at Wyandotte, the Bulldogs defeated the Bullpups of McPherson, 40-31. Matched with Ward the follow-ing night, our boys suffered a heartbreaker when they lost a 10-point lead in the fourth quarter to be nosed out, 33-35, by the seemingly unconquerable Cyclones. In a return affair with Topeka the Trojans main-tained their strength to defeat us, 41-35.

Revenge against Shawnee Mission resulted in Wyandotte's last victory. Joe McCaughey took scoring honors with seven points. The next three games spelled defeat for the Bulldogs as Hutchinson won, 47-34; and Argentine and Ward barely eked out victories by one and two points, respectively.

In the Regionals held at Wyandotte at the end of the season, the "W" basketeurs were eliminated in the first round by Shawnee Mission, 32-20. On the following night the Canines ended their season with a 25-29 loss against Argentine.

"Rube" Laird, Jim Hataway, and Don Burchfield were the leading scorers throughout the season. Don Johnson received a trophy at the end of the season for making the highest percentage of free throws for the team. Bob Laird was unanimously selected as a member on the All-City Team. He was also chosen as one of the 15 outstanding high school players in Greater Kansas City.

COACH W. D. ROY

For the fourth time in the past five years, coach Walter D. Roy's Waterdogs are the proud possessors of the Kansas State High School Swimming Championship. This title was earned February 22, when the azure blue waters of the Coffeyville natatorium were churned into a frothy foam by the Wyandotte swimmers who outscored Wichita East 45 to 44 to claim the title.

The co-captains of our State Championship team were Dee Roy and Jack Faerber. Dee is a senior and the youngest son of our swimming coach. He has been on the team four years and has proved to be a consistent point winner in the 40 yard free style capturing third in that event in the state meet. Dee is a bulwark on the 160 yard free style relay team that placed second in the state meet. Jack is also a senior. He climaxed his swimming career at Wyandotte by winning first in the hundred yard free style in the state meet and was a valuable component of the 160 yard free style relay team that placed second.

Bob Mapes is the only member of the team to have the distinction of being unbeaten all season. Bob, a breast-stroker, was not content with capturing first in the 100 yard breaststroke in the state meet, but went on to swim his fastest time of 1:07.1 to crack the state record by 2.5 seconds. He has also been a member for the last two years of the state championship medley relay team. One other third of this two year state championship medley relay team is Don Mather, a backstroker. Don was undefeated in the 100 yard backstroke during the regular season and scored a second in that event in the state meet. Alton Wilson is the other third of this medley team and also captured many points this season in the 100 yard free style.

Our diving department was headed by Earl Anderson, a junior, and Charles Hudson, a senior. They placed fourth and fifth respectively in the state meet to help amass the points to return the swimming crown to Wyandotte. Charles Gibson, a senior, is the other half of our backstroke combination. Charles is one of the smoothest backstrokers in Kansas and has proved instrumental in winning many meets for us during his three year stay on the team. Gene Kubicki, the team's only returned serviceman, proved to be a rugged competitor in the 220 yard free style winning 3rd place honors in the state meet. He was also a member of the free style relay team that captured 2nd in the state meet. David Davis, a sophomore, was the team's other 220 yard waterdog. The fourth member of the free style relay team was Milton Wait, a junior. Leslie Woods and Bob Hedstrom, a junior and a sophomore, will be back next year to swim breast stroke for the Waterdogs.

The regular swimming season was highly successful for the Waterdogs. They lost only one meet in thirteen starts. This loss occurred early in the season when Wichita East inflicted a defeat by a six point margin. The Waterdogs avenged this defeat later in the season by a 20 point victory over East. Two over night trips highlighted the swimming season. One was to Wichita and the other to the state meet at Coffeyville.

The season over, this fine team will be remembered long by Wyandotte students, alumni and friends as the team which brought State Championship laurels once more to our campus.

Track

by Bill Knepper

in 1946. George Kanas, a flash in a dash, was a member of the mile relay team that placed third in the state meet last year.

Rounding out the senior lettermen we find Lyle Peck, a lightfooted-dashman; Bill Brownrigg, and Dee Roy, both middle distance men; George Corbett, distance runner and a bulwark in the relays; Aubrey Bland and Don Burchfield highjumpers; Don Cunningham, a hurdler; and Don Hufford, who aims for the sky in the pole vault. Three sophomores were awarded varsity letters last year. Francis "Little Joe" Atkins and Bill Webb earned their letters in the middle distance runs, while Joe McCaughey proved to be a fleet-footed dash man. Their return as lettermen this year round out the thirteen. Although they didn't letter last year, Bill Boosmann and Ray Hassig will be relied on for firsts in the shot put, along with Jack Faerber in the javelin throw, and Dean Hosmann in the discus.

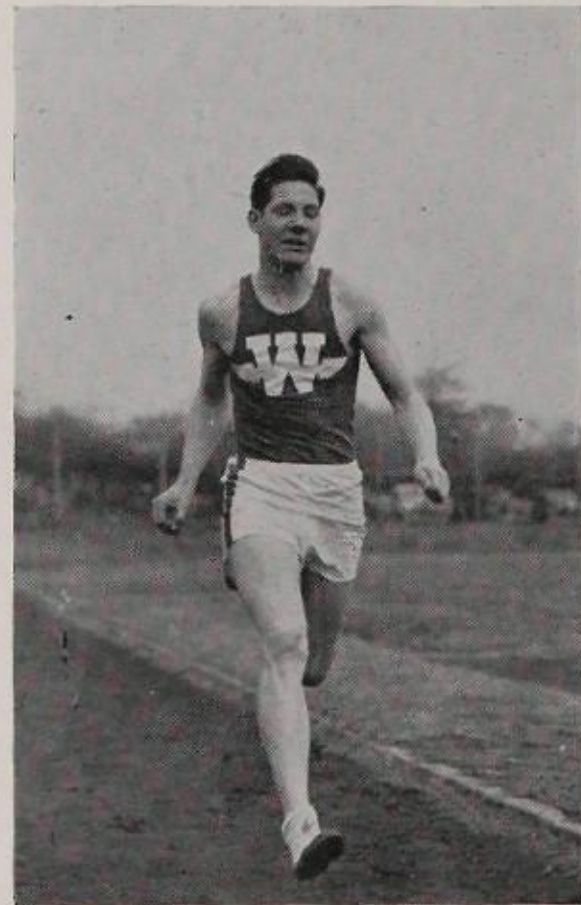

Paul Starbuck will assume the post of head track coach succeeding Lester Ramsey who did a commendable job in putting the 1946 team into shape and keeping it that way. Coach Ramsey was assisted by Don Kyle who took charge of the second team and Jim Seay who unofficially coached the Freshmen. The tracksters start the season with the Big Six Invitational Tournament at the Municipal Auditorium March 1st. The track season officially opens with the Ottawa relays held April 4th. The city track meet follows on our field April 11. Last year Wyandotte climaxed victories at the expense of Shawnee and Argentine by running rough shod over all local opposition to win the city track meet.

Following the city meet, the team annually journeys to Lawrence to participate in the K. U. relays. Strong teams from all parts of the Sunflower state take part in this event. Last year Wyandotte placed sixth among the host of teams represented. The Baker Relays at Baldwin take place the following weekend. Tom White set a new record in this meet by running the 880 in 2:06.2 minutes last year to help place our team in fourth position. Coach Starbuck plans to take the team to the St. Joseph Relays April 24th and then to Baldwin the following day. The first week in May is the date of the triangular meet that finds our team host to Topeka and Ottawa. Wyandotte won this meet last year when it was held at Ottawa.

The athletes now find themselves in the opening round of the state wide contest that pits our tracksters against those of such formidable class AA schools as Wichita East, Wichita North, and Lawrence. The state regionals for this section of the state last year found Wyandotte scoring points in every event to win first place. A new record was set when three Wyandotte tracksters, Phillips, Tucker and McCaughey placed first, second and third in the 100 yard dash.

The opening round over, the team moved to the state meet the following week. Don Yeager, a Wyandotte lad, led the field to win a first in the javelin throw. Tom White scored a first in the 880 and for the third successive year H. L. Hammond placed in the broad jump with a second. The mile relay team of George Kanas, H. L. Hammond, Charles Moberly and Jack Phillips added a third place. Don Hufford with the aid of his bamboo pole tied for fourth place and Hugh McCaughey tied with six others for fourth in the high jump to net Wyandotte a total of 19 3/7 bitterly contested points. The state meet will be held at Wichita this year. Here's hoping the thirteen lettermen and their teammates will prove the number thirteen unlucky for their opposition.

COACH WARD NEEL

With a supply of returning lettermen and several new recruits, Coach Ward L. Neel looked forward to a winning season in baseball. Captained by Marvin Smith, pitcher, and Harold White, hard-hitting first baseman, the squad can rely on lettermen Howard Adcock, Walter Hicks, John Winters, and Don Wilson.

Last year Wyandotte's chances for a state victory were cut short when they lost the first round of the regionals at Haskell Institute. Although winning the first encounter of the season from Bonner Springs, 5-4, they finished their schedule with three wins out of eight games.

Tennis

by Kenith Howard

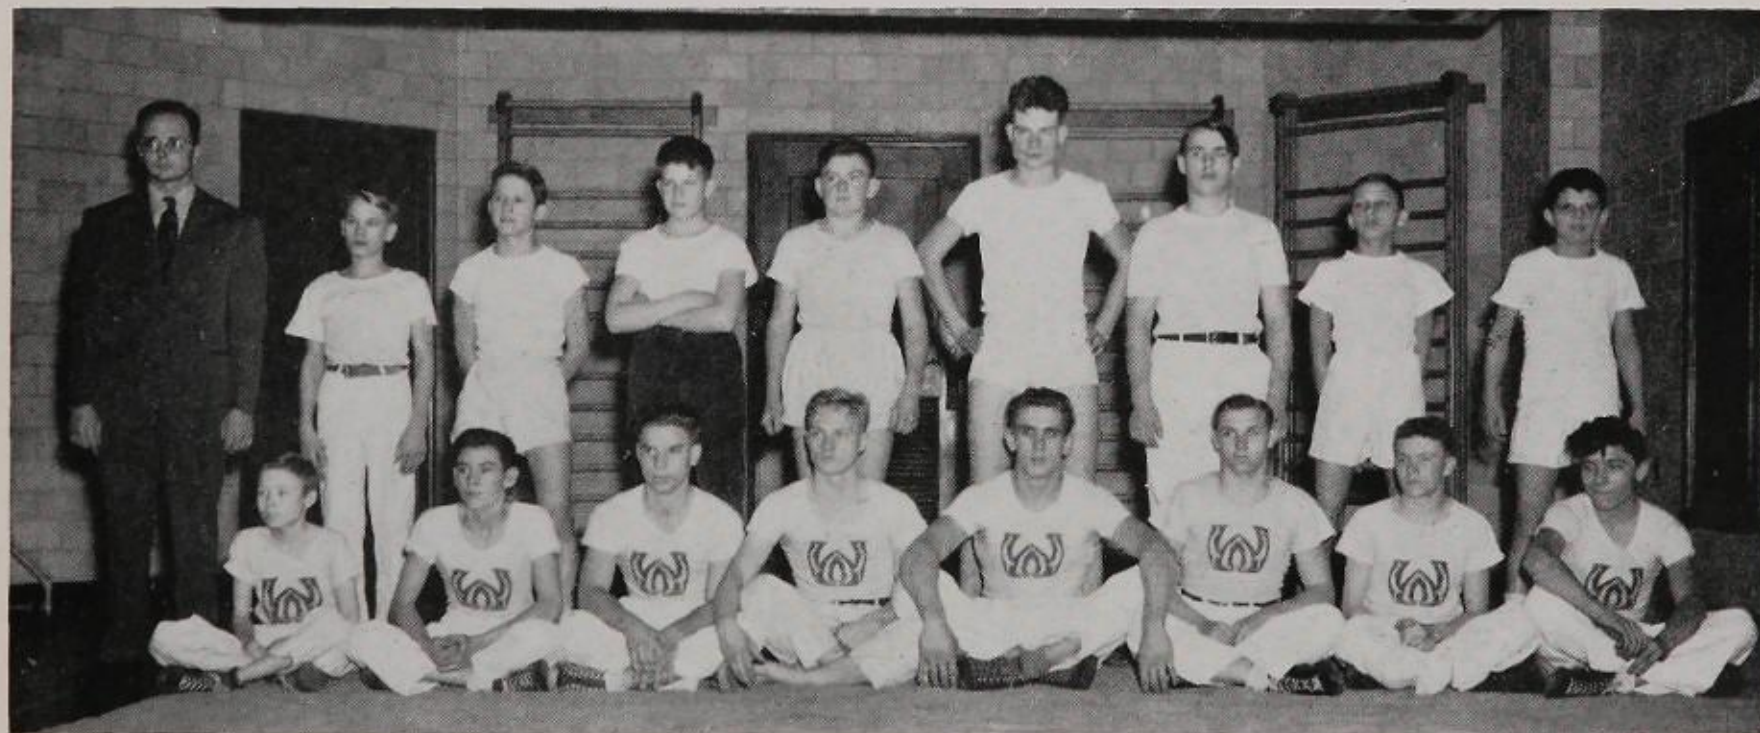

Prospects are good for the Tennis team this year with four lettermen, Charles Hudson, captain; Richard Carter, David Day, and Kenneth Medearis; and seven squad members from last year for Ed Pearson, new coach, to build his netsters around.

John Carlson, spark of the courtmen last year fought his way into the state finals, in which he lost. The other members were eliminated in the first round of the state matches at Topeka. Their schedule was finished with three wins out of six encounters. Wyandotte, coached by Mr. Richard Armstrong came on top in two matches with Rockhurst and one with Westport, while they were on the bottom in matches with Topeka, Pembroke Country Day, and Southwest.

When you see the mats coming out at the half-time of a basketball game you know it's the tumblers. Coached by Mr. Orville McHenry the squad consists of fifteen members captained by Lyle Fairbanks.

The Girls' Athletic Association is a club in which all girls attending Wyandotte and interested in sports may be members. First organized in 1912, it is one of the most popular clubs for girls. This year, girls had to become members of the G. A. A. before they could take part in the after school sports.

For the members of G. A. A., this year has been nine months chock-full of fun and activity. Through our new home room system, the G.A.A. has held a series of elimination tournaments. The first was the volley ball tournament. Each class held their own individual tournament, then the winner of each class played until there were two top teams left. In the finals, the seniors met the freshmen, and although it is rumored that the freshmen played a good game, they let the senior team have the championship. The next activity was a basketball tournament that was played out in the same way.

Early in the spring Wyandotte sponsored a "Sports Day" for girls. Six to eight girls were chosen from each school to form a basketball team of their own. Schools that were represented in the Sports Day tournament were Argentine, Rosedale, Junior College and Wyandotte. Favorite sports were tennis, baseball, soccer, archery and swimming. G. A. A. is sponsored by Miss Helen Barnett and Miss Ardis Hill.

Back in late summer, while most Wyandotte "studes" were busy saturating themselves with August sunshine, members of the 1947 Pantograph staff were hard at work selling advertisements in preparation for their twenty-eighth year of publication.

This year's staff was composed of eight girls and eight boys under the direction of Mr. G. W. Corporon. Despite the fact that they were hampered by paper shortages, increased material costs, and higher labor costs, the staff managed to publish 28 issues, received a first class rating from the National Scholastic Press Association, and was ranked by the National High Schools Publicity Bureau as one of the top ten high schools in the nation for excellence in school publicity.

Two staff members merited individual awards for their achievements—Peggy Miller, art editor, received a special commendation from Kansas University for her block prints. Louis Jobst, first semester co-editor, made the One Grand Club, membership into which is granted to those who have had one thousand column inches of material published.

Three "specials" were printed by the staff this year—the 6-page football issue, the 6-page issue honoring the swimming and basketball teams, and the Cub issue. This year also marked the advent of several new columns and the use of a symposium interview concerning important student questions. Two boys, David Day and Donald Hufford, were correspondents for the local newspapers. As in the past, copies of each edition were sent to former Wyandotters in the armed forces.

Highlighting the year's social events were a line party for staff members thrown by the Cubs and the trip to Lawrence to attend the Kansas University Journalism Conference.

Quiverian . . .

by Charlene Lashbrook

I had often wondered how the Quiverian got its name, and after searching the old annuals found the reason, and thought perhaps I would pass it on. When the old high school was called the Kansas City Kansas High School the yearbook had been under the names of the Jayhawker, the Pathfinder, the Spectator, the Periscope, the Rodeo, the Ace and the K book. But in 1921 a committee of students met for the sole purpose of choosing a permanent name for their annual.

A bit of colorful history was the inspiration for the naming of the Wyandotte Quiverian. During the sixteenth century a group of adventurers traveled across the wild, uncivilized land of Quivera in search of the Seven Cities of Cibola, claimed by the Indians to be made of gold and silver. But after months of fruitless wanderings the group was convinced that the redskins had deceived them; but what they did find was an abundant land, of which the state of Kansas was a part. Thus, in choosing the name Quiverian, the students believed it was unique, artistic, and yet had a local significance.

Perhaps the school annual hasn't always followed the same pattern but the ideas have been the same—to include all the school activities possible in one book, and to present them in a manner that is interesting not only now but in years to come.

And so the twenty-sixth edition of the Quiverian was started, under the fine supervision of Mr. Lawrence Tharp, who helped us weed out the minor details and who kept us at a happy medium. Knowing that the first impression is important, the editors, Fred Cross and Charlene Lashbrook, asked Brian Dawber to design the cover; and Marjorie Jenree made a wonderful set of division pages. The cry was for "more pictures" and Dick Gruendel did a splendid job in supplying the snap shots. Taking her place as associate editor was Janet Gregory. Sports editor Gerald Rushfelt, assisted by Bill Knepper and Kenith Howard, covered the sports events and did the write ups. When the senior pictures arrived, Carol Nickum was in charge of all the cutting and pasting that goes along with the senior section. Heading the club section, Barbara Pack was kept busy seeing to it that all the clubs had their pictures taken. Ruth Lois Abramson, Barbara Hatfield, Eileen Kruger, Marie Maze, Mary Frances McCain, Joyce Merritt, Esther Metaxas, and Norma Van Dorn each did her part of the endless job of cutting, pasting, and typing.

Our part is done—the book is yours now, and we all hope you like it!

String Trio

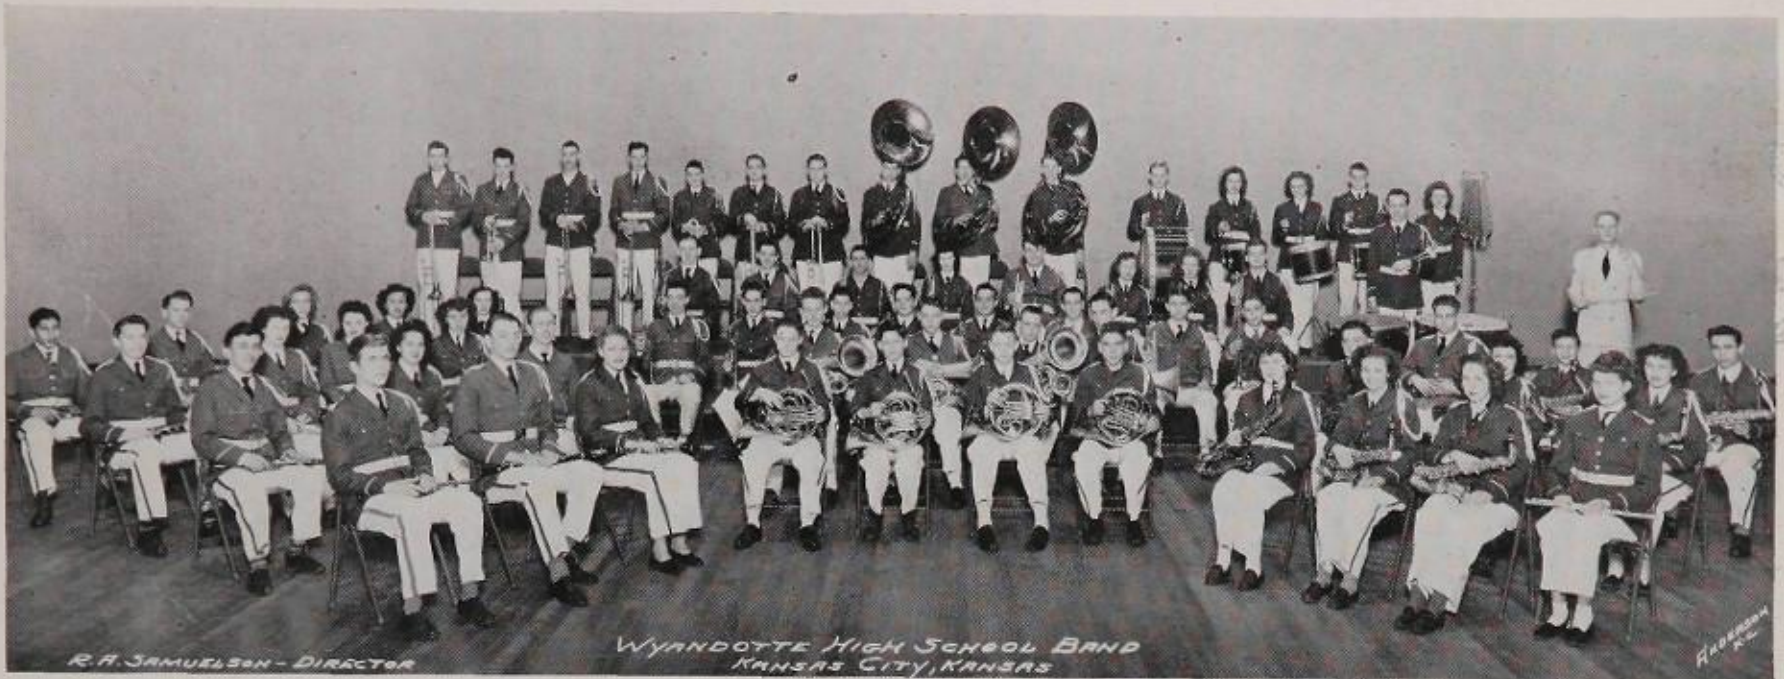

One of the outstanding departments of Wyandotte High School is that of instrumental music. This department presents to Wyandotte each year a band and an orchestra concert under the direction of R. A. Samuelson.

Besides the annual orchestra and band clinic, guest conductors such as Gabriel Bartold, first trumpet player of the Kansas City Philharmonic and Dr. N. DeRubertis of Kansas City, Missouri, visit Wyandotte.

The marching band, led by the majorettes, plays for all the Wyandotte football and basketball games.

Rehearsing in class, out of class, in the Recital Hall, the Auditorium or what have you, the 1947 Radio Production class continued to broadcast a fifteen minute program of varied entertainment entitled "This is Wyandotte" once weekly through the courtesy of Station KCKN.

In its second year of production since resuming classes after the war, the class stresses such qualities as accuracy of interpretation, dependability of performance, knowledge of radio equipment and technique, and the acquiring of a pleasing radio voice.

During the earlier part of the year, the class, under the direction of Miss Florence E. Hoar, spent a great deal of time in learning the terms, techniques, and requirements in preparation for the actual broadcasting series, which started in late October and continued until the close of school.

This year, more emphasis was placed on script writing than had been done in the past, with the result that more original scripts were produced by the students than ever before. Each member of the class was given the opportunity to write, direct, and participate in the program.

Highlighting the year's work were the special Thanksgiving and Christmas programs, and competition against other schools' dramatic departments at the Annual KU Speech and Drama Festival held at Lawrence in April.

Officers of the class were: Ted Clevenger, president; Pat Lynch, vice-president; Shirley Lansky, secretary; Fred Cross, treasurer.

Debate

Getting off to a bad start in their first tournament, the Wyandotte Barking Dogs caught a spark a week later and remained kindled for the rest of the season to win one tournament, finish second in two others, and capture third place in the state finals.

The twenty-three students who are enrolled in the debate class started to work early in September collecting material, typing briefs, filing cards, and acquiring the terminology of the question. After trying several combinations, Coach Leonard Jensen finally produced a winning combination of a two-man—two girl team.

Came mid-November, and the season started in earnest with the Newton tournament, in which the Jensenites failed to place. Undismayed, one week later at Topeka, Wyandotte turned out to be a surprise package by battling their way through stiff opposition to place second, losing only to Russell, Kansas, in the finals.

Journeying to Pittsburg the following Friday, the package continued its surprises, defeating Russell and Springfield to bring the Tri-State Meet trophy home to

"W." Opponents out west then began to realize that they had some competition from eastern Kansas.

At El Dorado, Wyandotte, no longer an underdog, continued its streak by winning 12 out of 14 rounds to place second. They bowed to Newton in the finals.

Early in January, Wyandotte was host to its tenth annual invitational tournament, the largest ever held here. Fifty teams, representing two states participated. Wyandotte, though going through the tournament undefeated dropped out of the elimination rounds. The meet was won by Russell with Newton second.

By taking second place in the regionals, the "W" debaters were eligible to attend the state finals at Kansas University. Here they took third place and had the satisfaction of being the only team to beat the state champion Russell debaters.

The season's record was 122 wins, 25 losses. According to "Poppa" Jensen, "it was as fine a year as we've had at Wyandotte in a long time."

Senior Play

by Joyce Merritt

Seated: Phyllis Tevis, Norma Jean Hall, Joyce Gazin, Mary Lou Johnson.

"Brother Goose"

A fast-moving 3-act comedy, "Brother Goose" was the play given by the Seniors this year. Jeff, our dear Brother Goose, took it upon himself to raise his younger brother and sisters. In this attempt, he not only accomplished his task but also went a step further. He found himself a lovely bride. Through the course of the play, he solved the problems of each member of his orphaned family. First, there was Hy and her uncontrollable passion for football; then Wes, his motorcycle, and his Southern girl friend, Eve; then Carol and her boxes of Wheat Puffies. Of course, Peggy who chose matrimony instead of hosiery vending, added enough of that "stuff" called romance to interest those so inclined. Humor, human interest and romance, all blended together, totaled up to a worthy production. Mr. William Knapp was the director.

Junior Play

"A Date with Judy"

The underclassmen in choosing a play to present, chose a 3-act comedy entitled, "A Date With Judy." The audience greatly enjoyed the whole play but especially the scenes in which adolescent Judy and younger brother Randolph were featured. Their parents (Mother, that is) demonstrated the patience needed to deal with teen-age folk. We all wondered how Judy could possibly get out of all the predicaments in which she was involved; but Judy in her inimitable way, succeeded in the end. A fine job was done by the cast and Mr. William Knapp, dramatics coach. Of course, in this play as well as the others, many people besides the cast were needed to make it a success.

Kay Cees Play

by Joyce Merritt

"Student Queen"

The first play of the year, presented by the Kay Cees was "Student Queen," a 3-act comedy with the antics and hilarious frivolities of college life. It was drama interwoven with the distresses of a country girl who tries to crash society, and romance with the affections of a Student Queen and a certain college Casanova. Considerable time and money went into the production to give it a nice setting, good publicity, and a fine cast. Acting and directing in this production was of a high caliber; Miss Besse Helwig, who directed, and the cast deserve our compliments. "Student Queen" appealed to the students of Wyandotte because it was the type of play where the best man wins.

Dramatics Club Play

"Stardust"

The Dramatics Club, with instructor William Knapp as the director, presented "Stardust" which was set in a dramatic school full of students who were trying to "live their art." Into their midst comes a famous actress and to their complete horror, she turns out to be a very normal hard-working girl who hardly ever "suffers for her art." It was an hilarious comedy—an amusing idea that had been treated with originality and ingenuity. "Stardust" in its fresh juvenile fashion was decidedly pleasing and engaging.

Assemblies . . .

by Janet Gregory

More student talent was included in Wyandotte assemblies this year than ever before. Outside entertainers also performed, completing the schedule of programs presented to student audiences.

One of the first assemblies was presented by the Girls' League, explaining the various clubs and activities to new girls. In February the Girls' League and Y-Teen Organization also sponsored a program featuring Howard Cleeves and his Midnight Movies.

Other speakers included Elzie Brown, the memory expert, Hanz Rosenhof from the Rotary Club, and Virgil Morey, who talked about animals and birds. In December Captain Art Hook, a deep sea diver talked on the submarine world. George DeMott, juggler, V. John Malik Verda, who talked on Oriental life and gave Oriental dances and songs, and Loring Campbell, a magician, appeared in assemblies during the spring. Some of these programs were presented to the whole school, and others as class meetings.

Students had an opportunity to win prizes when the radio program "It Pays to be Smart," came to Wyandotte. Richard Gruendel was the first prize winner, and Bill Knepper second. The annual Hi-Y talent show was given in January, in which Bob Biggins, playing Boogie on the piano, won first; Mary Lou Crayne, pianist, won second; Chester Smith, singer, won third; and Martha Sioulas, singer, won fourth.

Wyandotte's music department made large contributions to the list of assemblies this year. The orchestra presented its annual concert on January 22, and the band presented its concert in March. The vocal and instrumental music departments worked together to present a humorous operetta, "The Pirates of Penzance," this spring. In cooperation with the physical education department they also presented a variety show.

In April the University of Kansas Mens' Glee Club came to sing before an all school assembly.

The matinee performances of the Kay Cee Play, Junior and Senior class plays, and the Dramatics Club play were all given in regular assemblies. The drama and music departments together made the annual Christmas assembly as stirring and beautiful as it has always been.

Pep assemblies were held at various times during the year to show the teams that the students were behind them. Notable among them were the football rally with Dr. Phog Allen of K. U. as speaker, the one in which a group of Kay Cees dressed as players crowned a football king, and the snake dance held in the stadium.

This year, as ever, watching good programs in Wyandotte's beautiful auditorium has been a source of pleasure to the entire student body.

Top row: Lillian Murphy, Christmas Play, Christmas Assembly.
 Second row: Pep assembly in the stadium, W. H. S. Snake Dance.
 Third row: Eagle Scouts present the flag, "It Pays To Be Smart" assembly won by Richard Gruendel (second from the right)

Parties . . .

by Janet Gregory

The Wyandotte bulldog has had a busy social season in '47. It's a good thing that he is a social minded fellow for he has been attending everything from bowling tournament to prom.

The new student council has been responsible for the unusual number of mixers that the bulldog has attended during the year. Individual classes have worked with the council to present some of these, which have been held in both the boys' and girls' gyms. Circle dances, giving everyone, no matter how bashful, a chance to dance, have been a feature of this year's mixers.

The bulldog won't soon forget the Sweetheart Hop presented by the "W" Club. There he watched a floor show put on by the husky athletes, and saw Don Wilson and Beverly White crowned Sweetheart King and Queen.

In the fall the Kay Cees annual football banquet and dance was held at Wyandotte. With the decorations, colored lights, and soft music, the bulldog could hardly recognize his old, familiar Social Hall. The Kay Cees presented their second formal banquet in March, this time in honor of the basketball and swimming teams.

The bulldog never missed a one of the Girls' League parties, either. The first of these was the Hi Jinks, a hike followed by a picnic at Kensington Park. In the course of the year the Girls' League also presented a bowling tournament, and all-school ice skating and roller skating parties.

For a long time the Wyandotte bulldog looked forward to the Junior-Senior Prom, and when it came he wasn't disappointed. For in May the juniors honored the seniors with a party well worth waiting for.

And when the school year was over and the bulldog could look back, he decided that this year's parties were many, and varied enough to suit anyone's tastes.
